To continue pursuing excellence in the advancement of knowledge, scholarship and innovation through high quality research, we are seeking enthusiastic and highly dedicated academics to join the University in support of its strategic development in diverse areas.

Associate Professor / Assistant Professor (Two posts) (Ref: 2300856)

Department of Social Sciences and Policy Studies

Faculty of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences

The Department of Social Sciences and Policy Studies is a research-intensive unit that prides itself on multi-disciplinary social science research and policy analysis. We focus on understanding social, economic, political and geographical phenomena and educational issues, as well as their implications and challenges for policy making and changes in local, national and global contexts. Our faculty are engaged in various innovative research areas concerning gender, family, youth, community, citizenship, minorities, immigration, climate change, sustainability, governance, urban and social policy, business, finance, entrepreneurship, and education. The Department offers undergraduate and postgraduate degree programmes.

To further enhance its research and teaching strengths, the Department invites applications for full-time Associate Professor / Assistant Professor with expertise in (a) GIS/Remote Sensing, or (b) Sustainability Studies/Human Geography.

The appointees are expected to be active researchers and able to collaborate with colleagues on research that leads to publications in leading international journals and successfully acquire external research funding. The appointees will participate in activities related to teaching, research, project supervision, curriculum and programme development, and programme and course management at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Applicants should have expertise in one or more areas: GIS and remote sensing application, spatial data analytics, climate change and adaptation, smart and liveable city, urban/economic geography, and sustainable development. These positions are expected to enhance the strength of our teaching and research in geography and related urban, environmental and sustainability issues.

Applicants should have a PhD in Geography/Sustainability Studies or related fields and preferably post-qualification teaching experience in the higher education sector or other relevant professional qualifications. Applicants should provide evidence of achievements in research and teaching, and a statement of teaching and research interests.

For information on the Department, please visit: <https://www.eduhk.hk/ssps/>.

For enquiries, please contact the Acting Head of Department, Dr HU Zhiyong Fox at zyhu@eduhk.hk.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Initial appointment will be made on a fixed-term contract. Fringe benefits include contract-end gratuity, leave, medical and dental benefits, and where applicable, housing benefits.

The University only accepts and considers applications submitted online for this post. Applicants should complete the online application form and upload a full CV. Review of applications will start from 10 August 2023, and will continue until the posts are filled. Applications which are incomplete or without the required documents may not be considered. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes. For details of the Personal Information Collection Statement, please refer to <http://www.eduhk.hk/jobsoff/index.php?glang=en>.

All applications will be treated in strict confidence. Only those who are shortlisted will be contacted. The University reserves the right not to fill the position(s) advertised. Since the incumbent's work would involve contacts with persons aged under 18 and/or mentally incapacitated persons, prospective employee(s) will be required to undergo Sexual Conviction Record Check operated by the Hong Kong Police Force.
