Assistant Professor (Ref: 2401364)

Department of Science and Environmental Studies
Faculty of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences

The Department of Science and Environmental Studies (SES) offers both undergraduate and postgraduate academic programs and conducts research in the core areas of Science/STEM Education and Environmental Studies.

The Department is seeking to recruit a dedicated and emerging scholar for the position of Assistant Professor in Chemistry, Biology, Physics or environment-related disciplines. The ideal candidate should possess knowledge and experience in Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) criteria and/or Environmental Management. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to teaching and curriculum development at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels, secure research funding, and conduct research that leads to publications in recognized peer-reviewed journals. Additionally, the candidate will supervise students' field experiences, Honors/Capstone projects, and internships and engage in departmental activities and professional services for the community.

Applicants should hold a doctoral degree in a relevant discipline and demonstrate strong research capabilities, along with an impressive record of teaching and research in related fields. Experience in the tertiary education sector and a commitment to high-quality teaching will be considered advantageous.

Key Responsibilities:

- Contribute to teaching and curriculum/program development at undergraduate and postgraduate levels.
- Obtain research funding and conduct research leading to publications in recognized refereed journals.
- Supervise students' field experiences, Honours/Capstone projects, and internships.
- Participate actively in departmental activities and provide professional services to the community.

Qualifications:

- A doctoral degree in a related discipline.
- Demonstrated strong research capability and an impressive teaching and research track record in related fields.
- Post-qualification teaching experience in the tertiary education sector and a commitment to high-quality teaching will be advantageous.

The successful candidate will join a vibrant academic community and contribute to the growth and development of our programs. We encourage you to apply if you are passionate about teaching and research and are eager to make a meaningful impact.

For information on the Department, please visit <http://www.eduhk.hk/ses>.

For enquiries, please contact Professor HO Wing Kei at keithho@eduhk.hk.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Initial appointment will be made on a fixed-term contract. Fringe benefits include the University's Voluntary Contributions to MPF Scheme or a contract-end lump sum payment (totaling up to 15% of the basic salary), leave, medical and dental benefits, and, where applicable, housing benefits.

The University only accepts and considers applications submitted online for this post. Applicants should complete the online application form and upload a full CV. Review of applications will start from 13 December 2024, and will continue until the post is filled. Applications which are incomplete or without the required documents may not be considered. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes. For details of the Personal Information Collection Statement, please refer to <http://www.eduhk.hk/jobsopp/index.php?glang=en>.

All applications will be treated in strict confidence. Only those who are shortlisted will be contacted. The University reserves the right not to fill the position(s) advertised. Since the incumbent's work would involve contacts with persons aged under 18 and/or mentally incapacitated persons, prospective employee(s) will be required to undergo Sexual Conviction Record Check operated by the Hong Kong Police Force.
